

EMPLOYMENT APPEALS BOARD DECISION
2019-EAB-0193

Affirmed
Disqualification

PROCEDURAL HISTORY: On December 31, 2018, the Oregon Employment Department (the Department) served notice of an administrative decision concluding claimant voluntarily left work without good cause (decision # 114706). Claimant filed a timely request for hearing. On February 6, 2019, ALJ Frank conducted a hearing, and on February 8, 2019, issued Order No. 19-UI-124329, affirming the Department's decision. On February 19, 2019, claimant filed an application for review with the Employment Appeals Board (EAB).

On February 19, 2019, claimant submitted a written argument to EAB containing new information that was not offered or received into evidence at hearing. Information not received into evidence at hearing will not be considered on review by EAB unless the party offering the new information provides the new information to the other parties and shows that factors or circumstances beyond the party's reasonable control prevented the party from offering the information into evidence at the hearing. OAR 471-041-0090 (October 29, 2006). Claimant sent a copy of the new information to the employer. However, claimant did not show that factors or circumstances beyond her reasonable control prevented her from offering the new information at the hearing. EAB therefore did not consider claimant's new information in reaching its decision.

Even had EAB considered claimant's new information, EAB's decision would have been the same. Claimant had reasonable alternatives to quitting work when she did. Although the employer was in violation of OSHA rules because it did not have a bathroom available onsite for claimant when she worked at the employer's greenhouse, claimant had the reasonable alternative of following OSHA's initial recommendation of continuing to work with the employer to resolve the problems, and if the issues were not resolved, filing a formal OSHA complaint, which claimant could have done without quitting work. Claimant first complained to the employer on November 28, 2018, and the owner offered to meet with her to discuss her concerns further on December 4, 2018. Instead, claimant quit on November 30, 2018. Claimant failed to show that circumstances were so grave that meeting with the owner and allowing him an opportunity to address her concerns was not a reasonable alternative to quitting before the meeting. Nor does the record support claimant's assertion in her written argument that the owner was "enraged" or otherwise behaved in a manner, in the past or during the final incident, that would give claimant a reason to fear for her safety with the owner if she continued her discussions with him. For these reasons, claimant's new information would not have affected the outcome of this decision.

EAB reviewed the entire hearing record. On de novo review and pursuant to ORS 657.275(2), the hearing decision under review is adopted.

DECISION: Order No. 19-UI-124329 is affirmed.
