EMPLOYMENT APPEALS BOARD DECISION
2019-EAB-0652

Affirmed
Disqualification

PROCEDURAL HISTORY: On May 24, 2019, the Oregon Employment Department (the Department) served notice of an administrative decision concluding the employer discharged claimant for misconduct (decision # 84915). Claimant filed a timely request for hearing. On June 18, 2019, ALJ Frank conducted a hearing, and on June 26, 2019 issued Order No. 19-UI-132343, affirming the Department's decision. On July 12, 2019, claimant filed an application for review with the Employment Appeals Board (EAB).

Claimant submitted a written argument for EAB's consideration that included additional evidence. EAB did not consider the additional evidence claimant offered with his argument, however, for several reasons. First, the documents claimant submitted with his argument were mostly duplicative of Exhibit 1 and Exhibit 2, admitted into evidence at the hearing, and therefore admitting the same documents again or admitting documents that said the same thing that was already in evidence would be unduly repetitious. Second, OAR 471-041-0090(1)(b) provides that a party's additional evidence may only be considered if the information is relevant and material to EAB's determination and proves that factors or circumstances beyond the party's reasonable control prevented the party from offering the additional evidence into the hearing record. The newspaper clippings claimant submitted were not published until after the hearing, establishing that claimant could not have presented the information at the hearing. However, the materials are not relevant and material to EAB's determination. The only issue before EAB is whether the employer discharged claimant for misconduct. The content of the article suggests that claimant's manager engaged in bad behavior toward him and racist conduct toward others, but does nothing to confirm or rebut whether claimant actually did the things that caused the employer to discharge him. Because the new information does not tend to confirm or rebut the employer's allegations of misconduct, it was not relevant or material to the case and EAB did not consider the additional evidence claimant offered.

Claimant also alleged that the ALJ erred by refusing to call witnesses claimant offered on his own behalf. In support of the allegation, claimant argued that he offered the witnesses at the beginning of the hearing and the ALJ refused to take their phone numbers or call them. The ALJ did not refuse take the witnesses phone numbers, he told claimant that he would take their names and numbers if he decided to call them. Audio Record at 11:15. When The ALJ asked claimant if he had any additional information and claimant responded, “Candice’s statement.” Audio Record at 36:50. Claimant’s representative again explained that there were some people the ALJ could call to establish what claimant’s supervisor did, and establish that the supervisor harassed claimant. Audio Record at 38:00 to 38:30. Because information about what the supervisor did, or whether the supervisor liked or disliked claimant or desired to stop employing claimant is not relevant or material to either confirm or rebut the employer’s allegations of misconduct, however, claimant did not establish that the witnesses had relevant and material evidence to offer about the work separation. The ALJ therefore did not err in rejecting claimant’s offer of additional witnesses.

EAB reviewed the entire hearing record, as well as claimant’s written argument to the extent it was relevant and based upon the hearing record. On de novo review and pursuant to ORS 657.275(2), the order under review is adopted.

DECISION: Order No. 19-UI-132343 is affirmed.
