

EMPLOYMENT APPEALS BOARD DECISION
2021-EAB-0157

Affirmed
Disqualification

PROCEDURAL HISTORY: On October 28, 2020, the Oregon Employment Department (the Department) served notice of an administrative decision concluding that claimant quit work without good cause and was disqualified from receiving unemployment insurance benefits effective April 26, 2020 (decision # 123619). Claimant filed a timely request for hearing. On February 12, 2021, ALJ Demarest conducted a hearing, and on February 19, 2021 issued Order No. 21-UI-161239, affirming decision # 123619. On March 1, 2021, claimant filed an application for review with the Employment Appeals Board (EAB).

FINDINGS OF FACT: (1) The employer, Schacker Chiropractic LLC, employed claimant as a massage therapist from April 2019 until April 28, 2020.

(2) In mid-March 2020, after the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, the employer closed the clinic where claimant worked. Following the closure, the employer continued to employ claimant and, though there was no massage therapy work, included claimant in weekly meetings that the employer held to discuss when and how to re-open the clinic safely.

(3) The employer's clinic remained closed throughout the remainder of March and April 2020. In late April, 2020, the employer decided that re-opening the clinic was still not appropriate but decided to provide their employees miscellaneous work at the clinic that might prepare the clinic to re-open safely like rearranging furniture, writing new clinic protocols, and updating the website.

(4) On April 27, 2020, the employer texted claimant to "open up a conversation" about providing claimant with some of this miscellaneous work. Audio Record at 23:39. On April 28, 2020, claimant texted the employer back stating, "I have decided to not return to [the employer's clinic]. As I do not want to dedicate my time to practicing massage, it is best that I quit." Audio Record at 24:45.

(5) Claimant decided to quit on April 28, 2020 because he had been practicing massage therapy for twenty years, was ready for something new, and thought quitting then was convenient because he was not actively seeing patients. Claimant also thought performing massage therapy was unsafe at the time because of the risk of exposure to COVID-19.

CONCLUSIONS AND REASONS: Claimant voluntarily left work without good cause.

A claimant who leaves work voluntarily is disqualified from the receipt of benefits unless they prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that they had good cause for leaving work when they did. ORS 657.176(2)(c); Young v. Employment Department, 170 Or App 752, 13 P3d 1027 (2000). “Good cause . . . is such that a reasonable and prudent person of normal sensitivity, exercising ordinary common sense, would leave work.” OAR 471-030-0038(4) (September 22, 2020). “[T]he reason must be of such gravity that the individual has no reasonable alternative but to leave work.” OAR 471-030-0038(4). The standard is objective. McDowell v. Employment Department, 348 Or 605, 612, 236 P3d 722 (2010). A claimant who quits work must show that no reasonable and prudent person would have continued to work for their employer for an additional period of time.

Claimant did not establish that his situation was grave at the time he left work. Claimant quit working for the employer because he had been practicing massage therapy for decades and was ready for something new. Leaving work to pursue a new career was a valid personal choice for claimant to make. However, the record does not show that continuing to work for the employer as a massage therapist would have subjected claimant to any significant hardship, let alone a situation of such gravity that he had no reasonable alternative but to leave work. While claimant thought it was unsafe to perform massage therapy at the time he quit work because of the risk of exposure to COVID-19, the record indicates that at the time of claimant’s quit, the work available to claimant were miscellaneous tasks intended to prepare the clinic to re-open safely and did not involve performing massages on patients. Given that, at the time he quit, claimant’s work did not actually involve performing any massages, the record does not show that the risk of exposure to COVID-19 would cause a reasonable and prudent person of normal sensitivity to leave work on that basis.

Claimant voluntarily quit work without good cause and is disqualified from receiving unemployment insurance benefits effective April 26, 2020.
