

EMPLOYMENT APPEALS BOARD DECISION
2021-EAB-0192

Affirmed
Disqualification

PROCEDURAL HISTORY: On January 8, 2021, the Oregon Employment Department (the Department) served notice of an administrative decision concluding claimant quit work without good cause and was disqualified from receiving unemployment insurance benefits effective June 14, 2020 (decision # 65117). Claimant filed a timely request for hearing. On February 24, 2021, ALJ Murdock conducted a hearing, and on March 1, 2021 issued Order No. 21-UI-161834, concluding claimant quit work without good cause but modifying the Department's decision by changing the effective date of disqualification to June 21, 2020. On March 16, 2021, claimant filed an application for review with the Employment Appeals Board (EAB).

FINDINGS OF FACT: (1) Monarch Motor Hotel Inc. employed claimant as a maintenance worker from July 16, 2015 until June 21, 2020.

(2) The employer hired claimant to perform building maintenance work, and claimant performed that type of work until the employer laid him off in the spring of 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The employer called claimant back to work on June 17, 2020, but assigned claimant to perform deep cleaning of hotel rooms and only occasional maintenance work.

(3) Claimant experienced "anxiety" and "stress" about performing the room-cleaning work because the employer had contracted with an airline to provide rooms for flight personnel who regularly encountered the public, and he was concerned that those room occupants and others might have contracted the virus. Audio Record at 6:00 to 6:45. Claimant could perform the room-cleaning work wearing protective equipment and without coming into contact with guests, but when performing occasional maintenance work he was likely to encounter guests who were not wearing masks or who did not stay a safe distance away from him. Claimant also lived with his 72-year-old mother, and he did not want to contract the virus and pass it on to her. Claimant's anxiety and stress over his work duties sometimes made him physically ill.

(4) On June 21, 2020, claimant quit because of the stress and physical symptoms he was experiencing over his concerns about contracting COVID-19 from his work duties.

CONCLUSIONS AND REASONS: Claimant voluntarily quit work without good cause.

A claimant who leaves work voluntarily is disqualified from the receipt of benefits unless they prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that they had good cause for leaving work when they did. ORS 657.176(2)(c); Young v. Employment Department, 170 Or App 752, 13 P3d 1027 (2000). “Good cause . . . is such that a reasonable and prudent person of normal sensitivity, exercising ordinary common sense, would leave work.” OAR 471-030-0038(4). “[T]he reason must be of such gravity that the individual has no reasonable alternative but to leave work.” OAR 471-030-0038(4). The standard is objective. McDowell v. Employment Department, 348 Or 605, 612, 236 P3d 722 (2010). A claimant who quits work must show that no reasonable and prudent person would have continued to work for their employer for an additional period of time.

However, Oregon temporary rules set out unemployment insurance provisions applicable to the unique situations arising due to COVID-19 and the actions to slow its spread. OAR 471-030-0070(2)(b) (effective March 8, 2020 through September 12, 2020) provides that an individual who quits work because of a COVID-19 related situation is not disqualified from receiving unemployment insurance benefits. Under OAR 471-030-0070(1), a COVID-19 related situation includes the following:

(a) A person is unable to work because they are ill with the novel coronavirus;

* * *

(c) A person is unable to work because they have been advised by their health care provider or by advice issued by public health officials to self-quarantine due to possible risk of exposure to, or spread of, the novel coronavirus;

* * *

(e) A person is unable to work because they have to stay home to care for a family member, or other person with whom they live or for whom they provide care, who is suffering from the novel coronavirus or subject to a mandatory quarantine;

* * *

Claimant did not establish good cause to quit work under OAR 471-030-0038(4). Claimant quit working for the employer because of the stress and physical symptoms he was experiencing over his concerns about contracting COVID-19 from his work duties. Claimant denied having any preexisting conditions, but asserted that the anxiety and stress he experienced made him “physically ill” which he described as becoming “sweaty and nauseous.” Audio Record at 6:00 to 6:35; 10:00 to 10:20; 10:45 to 10:55. Claimant’s testimony failed to show that the symptoms he experienced created a situation of such gravity that a reasonable and prudent person of normal sensitivity, exercising ordinary common sense, would leave work.

Claimant also did not establish his circumstances at work amounted to a “COVID-19 related situation” as that term is defined by former OAR 471-030-0070(1). Claimant did not assert or show that he quit because he had contracted the novel coronavirus, because a health care provider advised him to self-quarantine due to possible risk of exposure to, or spread of, the novel coronavirus, or because he had to stay home to care for a family member.

For these reasons, claimant quit work without good cause and is disqualified from receiving unemployment insurance benefits effective June 21, 2020.
