

EMPLOYMENT APPEALS BOARD DECISION
2021-EAB-0342

Affirmed
Disqualification

PROCEDURAL HISTORY: On November 12, 2020, the Oregon Employment Department (the Department) served notice of an administrative decision concluding that claimant quit working for the employer work without good cause and was disqualified from receiving unemployment insurance benefits effective October 25, 2020 (decision # 102650). Claimant filed a timely request for hearing. On April 2, 2021, ALJ Schmidt conducted a hearing, and on April 9, 2021 issued Order No. 21-UI-164506, affirming decision # 102650. On April 29, 2021, claimant filed an application for review with the Employment Appeals Board (EAB).

WRITTEN ARGUMENT: Claimant's argument contained information that was not part of the hearing record, and did not show that factors or circumstances beyond claimant's reasonable control prevented him from offering the information during the hearing. Under ORS 657.275(2) and OAR 471-041-0090 (May 13, 2019), EAB considered only information received into evidence at the hearing when reaching this decision. EAB considered claimant's argument to the extent it was based on the record.

FINDINGS OF FACT: (1) Loyd Fery Farms LLC employed claimant as a welder's helper from August 26, 2020 until October 27, 2020. The employer also employed claimant's son.

(2) Claimant and his supervisor had a tense relationship. Claimant thought that his supervisor was unfairly critical and unhelpful when he and his son had questions. The supervisor viewed claimant as someone who complained too often.

(3) On October 27, 2020, claimant's son asked the supervisor questions about a welding task to which he was assigned. The supervisor was not initially responsive to these questions, but reviewed the welds after claimant's son repeated his questions. The supervisor thought claimant's son "was not doing the greatest job" and yelled at him to perform the welds again. Transcript at 25-26.

(4) Claimant decided to quit because he thought the supervisor's yelling at his son was unfair and he believed the supervisor was generally unhelpful when he and his son had questions. Claimant quit working for the employer at the end of his shift on October 27, 2020.

(5) Prior to quitting, claimant did not express his concerns about the supervisor's behavior to the supervisor or anyone else in management. Had claimant expressed his concerns to the supervisor, the supervisor would have tried to be less harsh when answering questions.

CONCLUSIONS AND REASONS: Claimant voluntarily left work without good cause.

A claimant who leaves work voluntarily is disqualified from the receipt of benefits unless they prove, by a preponderance of the evidence, that they had good cause for leaving work when they did. ORS 657.176(2)(c); Young v. Employment Department, 170 Or App 752, 13 P3d 1027 (2000). "Good cause . . . is such that a reasonable and prudent person of normal sensitivity, exercising ordinary common sense, would leave work." OAR 471-030-0038(4) (September 22, 2020). "[T]he reason must be of such gravity that the individual has no reasonable alternative but to leave work." OAR 471-030-0038(4). The standard is objective. McDowell v. Employment Department, 348 Or 605, 612, 236 P3d 722 (2010). A claimant who quits work must show that no reasonable and prudent person would have continued to work for their employer for an additional period of time.

At hearing, claimant initially testified that he quit working for the employer because no one wore masks at the employer's workplace and he was concerned about exposure to COVID-19. Transcript at 6. However, claimant testified that he was initially "fine not to have a mask" but determined "a week or two before [he] left" that the lack of masks at the employer's workplace made it "too dangerous" to work there. Transcript at 12. Nevertheless, claimant continued to work for the employer until the October 27, 2020 incident in which the supervisor yelled at his son. Claimant testified that the supervisor yelling at his son on that day was "the last straw" that led claimant to quit. Transcript at 11. For these reasons, the preponderance of evidence supports that the reason claimant quit was the supervisor's treatment of his son, rather than because of a concern that no one wore masks at the employer's workplace.

Claimant quit work without good cause. Claimant did not establish that his situation was such that a reasonable and prudent person of normal sensitivity, exercising ordinary common sense, would quit. Claimant decided to quit working for the employer because his supervisor had yelled at his son and he perceived the supervisor was generally unhelpful when he and his son had questions. Claimant did not show that no reasonable and prudent person would have continued to work for the employer for an additional period of time because of these reasons.

Claimant did not show that he had no reasonable alternative but to leave work when he did. Claimant did not pursue the reasonable alternative of expressing his concerns about the supervisor's behavior to the employer before he quit. Had claimant expressed his concerns to the supervisor, the record shows that the supervisor would have tried to be less harsh when answering questions.

Claimant therefore quit work without good cause and is disqualified from receiving benefits effective October 25, 2020.
