

EMPLOYMENT APPEALS BOARD DECISION
2023-EAB-0830

Affirmed
Eligible Weeks 17-23 and 18-23

PROCEDURAL HISTORY: On May 26, 2023, the Oregon Employment Department (the Department) served notice of an administrative decision concluding that claimant was available for work from April 23 through May 6, 2023 (weeks 17-23 and 18-23) and was eligible for benefits for those weeks if otherwise eligible (decision # 101048). The employer filed a timely request for hearing. On July 11, 2023, ALJ Fraser conducted a hearing at which claimant failed to appear and issued Order No. 23-UI-230033, affirming decision # 101048. On July 27, 2023, the employer filed an application for review with the Employment Appeals Board (EAB).

WRITTEN ARGUMENT: The employer submitted written arguments on July 27, 2023 and August 11, 2023. The employer did not declare that they provided a copy of their July 27, 2023 argument to the opposing party or parties as required by OAR 471-041-0080(2)(a) (May 13, 2019). The July 27, 2023 argument also contained information that was not part of the hearing record, and did not show that factors or circumstances beyond the employer's reasonable control prevented the employer from offering the information during the hearing as required by OAR 471-041-0090 (May 13, 2019). EAB therefore did not consider the employer's July 27, 2023 written argument when reaching this decision. See ORS 657.275(2). EAB considered the employer's August 11, 2023 argument to the extent it was based on the hearing record.

FINDINGS OF FACT: (1) On August 18, 2022, claimant filed an initial claim for unemployment insurance benefits. The Department determined that claimant's weekly benefit amount was $216.

(2) Prior to the weeks at issue, claimant worked for the employer. On March 16, 2023, claimant voluntarily quit work to stay home with her newborn child.

(3) Claimant claimed benefits for weeks 17-23 and 18-23. These are the weeks at issue. Although the Department determined that claimant was eligible for benefits for the weeks at issue on the basis of her availability for work, the Department did not pay claimant benefits for the weeks at issue due to a disqualification relating to a separate issue.<sup>1</sup>

(4) The Department initially received information suggesting that claimant might not have been available for work due to lacking childcare. However, when the Department investigated the issue, they learned that claimant had, or could obtain, childcare necessary to allow her to return to work.

(5) On March 10, 2023, the employer rehired claimant.

CONCLUSIONS AND REASONS: Claimant was available for work during the weeks at issue.

To be eligible to receive benefits, unemployed individuals must be able to work, available for work, and actively seek work during each week claimed. ORS 657.155(1)(c). For an individual to be considered “available for work” for purposes of ORS 657.155(1)(c), they must be:

(a) Willing to work full time, part time, and accept temporary work opportunities, during all of the usual hours and days of the week customary for the work being sought, unless such part time or temporary opportunities would substantially interfere with return to the individual’s regular employment; and

(b) Capable of accepting and reporting for any suitable work opportunities within the labor market in which work is being sought, including temporary and part time opportunities; and

(c) Not imposing conditions which substantially reduce the individual’s opportunities to return to work at the earliest possible time[.]

OAR 471-030-0036(3) (March 25, 2022).

The Department found that claimant was available for work during the weeks at issue because, after receiving an initial report suggesting that claimant lacked childcare that would allow her to return to work, the Department investigated and determined that claimant had childcare available during that period. The record does not contain evidence to contradict this finding, nor does it otherwise show that claimant failed to meet any of the other requirements of OAR 471-030-0036(3). Furthermore, the fact that claimant was able to go back to work for the employer the following week supports the inference that claimant had childcare available. Therefore, based on a preponderance of the evidence, claimant was available for work during the weeks at issue, and was not ineligible for benefits for that period due to a lack of availability.

DECISION: Order No. 23-UI-230033 is affirmed.
