

EMPLOYMENT APPEALS BOARD DECISION
2023-EAB-0833

Affirmed
No Disqualification

PROCEDURAL HISTORY: On April 13, 2023, the Oregon Employment Department (the Department) served notice of an administrative decision concluding that claimant was discharged for misconduct and therefore was disqualified from receiving unemployment insurance benefits effective March 19, 2023 (decision # 80058). Claimant filed a timely request for hearing. On June 13, 2023, ALJ Goodrich conducted a hearing that was continued on July 11, 2023, and on July 19, 2023 issued Order No. 23-UI-230895, reversing decision # 80058 by concluding that claimant was discharged, but not for misconduct, and was not disqualified from receiving benefits based on the work separation. On July 30, 2023, the employer filed an application for review with the Employment Appeals Board (EAB).

WRITTEN ARGUMENT: The employer submitted two written arguments on August 23, 2023. The employer included with the arguments evidence not in the hearing record, including a short surveillance video clip from March 17, 2023, a screenshot from the video, and a call log from that date. The employer did not show that factors or circumstances beyond the employer's reasonable control prevented them from offering the information during the hearing.

In one of their arguments, the employer asserted that factors beyond their reasonable control prevented them from offering the additional information into the hearing record because the employer "could not reasonably have anticipated that Claimant would falsely testify regarding her arrival time and whether the time clock system somehow malfunctioned . . . [and] could not readily present this evidence to impeach Claimant's testimony – presenting video in a telephonic hearing." Employer's 4:00 p.m. August 23, 2023 Written Argument at 1.

The fact that the employer did not anticipate claimant's specific testimony, however, does not constitute a factor beyond the employer's reasonable control that prevented them from offering the information during the hearing. The employer has not contended, for example, that they were unable to retrieve the video or other evidence prior to the hearing despite good faith efforts to do so. Instead, the employer has essentially argued that they did not think it necessary to offer the information into the hearing record because they expected claimant's testimony to present no factual conflicts with the employer's evidence.

Choosing not to offer the information at hearing because they believed it unnecessary to do so does not amount to a factor beyond the employer's reasonable control.

Likewise, while the employer may not have been able to, at a telephone hearing, present a video clip in the same fashion that a party might be able to do at an in-person hearing, the employer nevertheless could have offered the video into evidence prior to the hearing in accordance with OAR 471-040-0023(4) (August 1, 2004). Had the employer done so, providing copies of the video to claimant and the ALJ, both parties would have been afforded a meaningful opportunity to view the video and ask questions or present testimony about it, and the ALJ could likewise have considered the evidence in the video when reaching his decision.

Because the employer has not shown that they were prevented from offering the information into the hearing record due to factors beyond their reasonable control, under ORS 657.275(2) and OAR 471-041-0090 (May 13, 2019), EAB considered only information received into evidence at the hearing when reaching this decision. EAB considered the employer's argument to the extent it was based on the record.

EAB reviewed the entire hearing record. On de novo review and pursuant to ORS 657.275(2), the order under review is adopted.

DECISION: Order No. 23-UI-230895 is affirmed.
