On December 2, 2025, ALJ Honea conducted a consolidated hearing on the administrative decisions. On December 9, 2025, ALJ Honea issued Orders No. 25-UI-313496, 25-UI-313499, 25-UI-313508, 25-UI-313509, 25-UI-313497, 25-UI-313504, 25-UI-313501, 25-UI-313507, and 25-UI-313506, respectively affirming decisions # L0013189446, L0013211108, L0013253203, L0013160867, L0013185064, L0013215424, L0013324563, L0013193212, and L0013261395. WRITTEN ARGUMENT: EAB considered claimant’s written argument in reaching this decision.

FINDINGS OF FACT: (1) On July 10, 2025, claimant filed an initial claim for unemployment insurance benefits. On July 14, 2025, the Department issued claimant a Wage and Potential Benefit Report (WPBR). The WPBR listed wages and hours claimant received in her base year, per calendar quarter, based on information reported to the Department by claimant’s employer. The employer reported claimant’s wages and hours to the Department incorrectly. As a result, the WPBR determined that claimant had a monetarily non-valid claim with a weekly benefit amount of zero dollars. See Exhibit 2 at 4.

(2) The WPBR stated, “Please look at the base year table carefully to make sure your wages and hours are correct. Check to make sure the wages are for you and not someone else. Check to make sure there are not missing wages. . . Remember to file a Weekly Claim each week while we wait for more information. If you do not file weekly claims, we cannot pay your benefits for those weeks, even if we approve your claim.” Exhibit 2 at 5 (emphasis in original).

(3) Claimant had never filed an unemployment insurance claim before. When she received the July 14, 2025 WPBR, claimant saw that the Department had determined she was not eligible for benefits. Although the WPBR urged claimant to check to make sure her wages and hours were correct, claimant “took [the WPBR] as . . . solid word” and “didn’t think there was any mistake or any error” in the WPBR’s determination of her claim. Audio Record at 27:17. Claimant therefore did not promptly contact the Department to raise that her wages and hours were incorrectly reported or request that the Department redetermine her claim.

(4) Under the Department’s rules, to claim a week of benefits timely, claimant needed to file her claim no later than seven days after the end of the week. For the first effective week of the claim, claimant needed to file her claim no later than 13 days after the end of the week. However, the Department allowed a week of benefits to be claimed late in situations where a claimant is prevented from claiming a week because of “a barrier based on the Frances [Online] system itself” when “the Frances [Online] system didn’t allow the claimant to claim due to no fault of their own.” Audio Record at 18:27.

(5) For the weeks of July 6 through September 6, 2025 (weeks 28-25 through 36-25), claimant believed she was ineligible for benefits based on the July 14, 2025 WPBR, and “didn’t bother” to file claims for benefits each week. Audio Record at 23:15. If claimant had attempted to file timely claims for benefits for these weeks via Frances Online, the system would not have allowed claimant to claim them. However, claimant could have contacted the Department and claimed each week with the assistance of a Department representative, or at least have the representative notate that claimant wished to claim the weeks.

(6) On or about September 16, 2025, claimant reviewed her W-2 tax forms and noticed that there was a discrepancy in what her employer reported to the Department compared to the amount of wages she had actually earned. On September 16, 2025, claimant contacted the Department and raised the wage discrepancy issue. A representative told claimant that the Department would investigate and that claimant would not be able to claim any weeks of benefits, including the week of September 7 through September 13, 2025 (week 37-25), until the investigation was complete and the wages were corrected.

(7) The Department obtained corrected wage and hour information and redetermined claimant’s initial claim. On September 26, 2025, the Department issued claimant a new WPBR that determined that claimant had a valid claim for benefits with a weekly benefit amount of $872 and a first effective week of July 6 through 12, 2025 (week 28-25). See Exhibit 2 at 12-21. On September 26, 2025, claimant contacted the Department and with the help of a representative, filed late claims for benefits for the weeks of July 6 through September 13, 2025 (weeks 28-25 through 37-25).

(8) The weeks of July 6 through September 6, 2025 (weeks 28-25 through 36-25) are the weeks at issue. The Department did not pay claimant benefits for the weeks at issue.

(9) The Department adjudicator who adjudicated claimant’s claims for weeks 28-25 through 37-25 reasoned that it was not warranted to allow benefits for the weeks at issue under the exception for situations where “the Frances [Online] system didn’t allow the claimant to claim due to no fault of their own.” Audio Record at 18:27. The adjudicator reasoned that although claimant had a barrier to claiming the weeks at issue via the Frances Online system, claimant did not promptly contact the Department to request a redetermination, but instead waited until September 16, 2025 to do so. The adjudicator reasoned that had claimant contacted the Department promptly after receiving the July 14, 2025 WPBR, a representative could have filed the claims on claimant’s behalf in a timely manner.

CONCLUSIONS AND REASONS: Claimant filed late claims for benefits for the weeks of July 6 through September 6, 2025 (weeks 28-25 through 36-25), and is not eligible for benefits for those weeks.

Claimant has the burden to prove that the Department should have paid benefits. See Nichols v. Employment Division, 24 Or App 195, 544 P2d 1068 (1976) (Where the Department has paid benefits it has the burden to prove benefits should not have been paid. By logical extension of that principle, where benefits have not been paid claimant has the burden to prove that the Department should have paid benefits.).

ORS 657.155(1)(b) provides that an unemployed individual shall be eligible to receive benefits with respect to any week only if the individual has made a claim for benefits with respect to such week in accordance with ORS 657.260. ORS 657.260(1) provides that claims for benefits shall be filed in accordance with such regulations as the Department may prescribe. OAR 471-030-0045 (January 11, 2018) provides, in relevant part:

(1) As used in these rules, unless the context requires otherwise:

(a) “Continued Claim” means an application that certifies to the claimant’s completion of one or more weeks of unemployment and to the claimant’s status during these weeks. The certification may request benefits, waiting week credit, or non-compensable credit for such week or weeks. A continued claim must follow the first effective week of an initial, additional or reopen claim, or the claimant’s continued claim for the preceding week[.]

* * *

(4) A continued claim must be filed no later than seven days following the end of the week for which benefits, waiting week credit, or noncompensable credit, or any combination of the foregoing is claimed, unless:

(a) The continued claim is for the first effective week of the benefit year, in which case the week must be claimed no later than 13 days following the end of the week for which waiting week credit is claimed[.]

* * *

(5) The Director may, with respect to individual claimants or groups of claimants, direct that continued claims be filed on any reporting schedule appropriate to existing facilities and conditions.

* * *

Under OAR 471-030-0045(3), a continued claim may be filed in person at any Department office in the state of Oregon, by United States mail, by fax, by internet, and by telephone.

Because week 28-25 was the first effective week of claimant’s claim, the continued claim for benefits for week 28-25 was due 13 days after the end of that week. The continued claims for benefits for the remaining weeks at issue were each due seven days after the end of each of those weeks. The continued claim for week 36-25, the last of the weeks at issue, was due by September 13, 2025. Claimant filed her claims for the weeks at issue on September 26, 2025, and the claims were therefore late.

Claimant did not file the claims within the required period following the end of each week because she believed she was ineligible for benefits based on the July 14, 2025 WPBR and so, initially, “didn’t bother” to claim the weeks. If she had attempted to file timely claims for benefits via Frances Online, the system would not have allowed her to do so because her initial claim at the time had been determined to be non-valid. However, claimant could have contacted the Department and claimed each week with the assistance of a Department representative, or at least have the representative notate that claimant wished to claim the weeks, which likely would have resulted in claimant being credited with claiming the weeks timely following her claim redetermination. It is regrettable that claimant did not promptly contact the Department because the claim determination set forth in the July 14, 2025 WPBR indicated that she was not eligible for benefits. However, the July 14, 2025 WPBR contained language informing claimant to make sure that the wage and hours information was correct and reminding her of the need to file a weekly claim each week to be paid benefits.

Generally, there is no “good cause” exception to the requirement that a weekly claim be filed within the applicable 13- or seven day-period following the end of the week being claimed. However, OAR 471-030-0045(5) authorizes the Department to use a different reporting schedule appropriate to existing facilities and conditions. Apparently invoking this provision, the Department’s witness at hearing testified that the Department allowed weeks to be claimed late in situations where a claimant is prevented from claiming because of “a barrier based on the Frances [Online] system itself” when “the Frances [Online] system didn’t allow the claimant to claim due to no fault of their own.” Audio Record at 18:27.

However, the witness further testified that the adjudicator who adjudicated claimant’s late claims reasoned that it was not warranted to allow benefits under this exception because although claimant had a barrier to claiming the weeks at issue via the Frances Online system, claimant did not promptly contact the Department to request a redetermination, but instead waited until September 16, 2025 to do so. Audio Record at 14:27, 18:56 to 19:16. The adjudicator reasoned that had claimant contacted the Department promptly after receiving the July 14, 2025 WPBR, a representative could have filed the claims on claimant’s behalf in a timely manner, or at least notate that claimant wished to claim the weeks. Audio Record at 16:02 to 16:44, 18:01 to 18:20.

The Department’s interpretation of OAR 471-030-0045(5) to decline to give claimant the benefit of the Frances Online barrier exception is entitled to deference.<sup>1</sup> The record fails to show that there was any reason claimant could not have checked her W-2 forms, noticed the discrepancy in reported wages, and raised the matter with the Department when she received the July 14, 2025 WPBR, or shortly thereafter. The Department’s decision to not allow claimant’s late claims for benefits for the weeks at issue under the Frances Online barrier exception because claimant did not raise the wage discrepancy issue until September 16, 2025 is not unreasonable, and EAB therefore defers to it.

Accordingly, the weekly claims for benefits for July 6 through September 6, 2025 (weeks 28-25 through 36-25) were filed late and claimant is ineligible for benefits for those weeks.
